About The Script Collection

The Script Collection is a resource for professional and trainee hypnotherapists. Scripts are useful as a source of ideas and approaches which can be adapted to suit the needs of individual clients.

We do not recommend that scripts are read verbatim.

The design of The Script Collection has been specially devised to enhance the benefits of this resource. Ample space is provided where you may write your own notes, comments and adaptations.

A number of special conventions have been adopted to make the scripts easy to use and study.

The first part of each script, in which the therapist is preparing the ground for the trance work to follow, is formatted as standard prose, and is generally intended to be delivered with normal tone and pace.

You can listen to the first part of the 'Getting Over a Relationship' script here.

The trance script that follows is formatted so that line breaks mark suggested phrasing and pacing.

Silences play an important part in trance work, and pause markers indicate different lengths of pause as appropriate. Each coloured block indicates approximately 10 seconds.

Examples:

 Pause [approx 10 seconds]

 Pause [approx 30 seconds]

Words and phrases requiring special emphasis are marked in bold text with a highlighted background.

Example:

your unconscious mind takes care of things in that time

Studying the content and structure of these highlighted phrases will be particularly helpful to the therapist who wishes to develop their own skill in devising helpful suggestions.

Get over a relationship

This session today will help you to really come to terms with the end of the particular relationship you have in mind... and will enable you to move on emotionally... and feel fresh and open to life again!

When a relationship ends, even when you know it had to, it can be difficult to manage your emotions for a while. The old cliché that 'time is the great healer' is absolutely true, but sometimes it can take much longer than you think it should.

So we can give time a helping hand in putting that relationship well and truly into the past as far as your emotions are concerned. This doesn't mean that you will forget about what was good about that relationship if you don't want to – let's face it – just about all relationships have happy elements to them, at least in the beginning.

Following this deeply relaxing session, you'll notice that the relationship will start to take up less time and space in your mind and you will expend less emotional energy ruminating over it.

So let's do a little preparation for this.

You'll remember that there have been times in your life when you were doing things that felt extremely important at the time.

You might have been revising for a test or exam... starting something new... meeting someone for the first time... you know the sort of occasion – and at the time it felt like a big thing... but now it feels like it's behind you.

So as a kind of practice for getting the feeling of the past being in the past, just take a few seconds now to review something from a long time ago that felt like a big deal at the time, but seems pretty insignificant now... just think about that now...

■ Pause

And that is the kind of thinking you'll be able to develop about that relationship, and you'll find you can actually practise getting that more detached feeling on a daily basis.

Now before you start to experience yourself deeply relaxing I'd just like to mention another important aspect.

Often people think that the latest relationship was somehow 'meant to be' or that it was 'the one', which can lead to feelings that you may never have another relationship as good or intense in the future. This is an illusion.

There are literally millions of potential partners out there, hundreds of thousands of which would meet your needs. It's the emotion you are feeling at the moment that leads to that sort of thought, but it is not true, so please don't be fooled by the feeling that there's only one person for you... it's so easy to get that idea.

There will be opportunities for you in the future, whether you believe me or not... the fact remains...

So now you can settle yourself in a nice comfortable way and allow yourself to begin to appreciate the possibility that you can relax deeply and calmly and just let the eyes gently close as relaxation starts to drift all about you and laps gently through your muscles sweeping deep rest and a wonderful kind of release through that body and your mind can take a vacation away from usual thoughts and feelings, seeing them get more distant as you relax through time and even the air around the skin can start to feel so much more relaxed

■ ■ ■ ■ Pause

And of course any of the good old times are still there from anything that you've experienced and that's fine but the real thing that your unconscious mind needs to learn and really learn is that good feelings from good times actually come from inside you and therefore will be there again in the future

in different types of times with different people

that's it and you know that actually a very deep part of you can now start to feel very soothed and reassured in such a comforting way as a part of you notices that you can just continue to relax deeper

so beautifully and serenely like the surface of beautifully calm water so clear and calm

■ ■ ■ ■ Pause

And there comes to be a kind of strange comfort in knowing that all things pass and that we can benefit from others on our individual paths through life but that all people move on and look forward to drinking in future benefits of people you haven't even met yet with an unspoken sense of excitement and optimism at future possibilities which are there whether you know it or not that's it
and even as you continue to drift so soothingly in a trance of pure rest and tranquillity you can really begin perhaps even for the very first time to review that whole relationship from a totally new and distanced point of view like watching it from a great calm distance through space and time notice what it's like to view it through a different lens much further away with incredible objectivity and soothing detachment

■ ■ ■ Pause

And you like everybody, have experienced the flow of time many years ago what now feels like the dim and distant past the present at that time felt very real present concerns and interests were very current but now feel so unimportant and distant in time people you knew at the time on a daily basis even felt very relevant then but that was years ago and time and associations and experiences move on with your life changing things you really worried about at that time you can't even remember now time moves on like the fast and slow currents of a stream sometimes flowing over smooth pebbles sometimes soothing over rocks and underwater river sand as times move on

■ Pause

And one day this time now will feel very distant in time like when you are close up to something seeing only the trees, and then as you move away the whole wood comes into view with the distance and perspective of time seeing the whole picture and having great detachment on the situation as just a part of the over all picture of your life

■ Pause

This very time right now as you relax to this will one day be exactly a year ago and how does that feel when this point in your life is a year ago? the feeling of that relationship settling down into its appropriate place in your life

■ ■ ■ Pause

And it's true that this time will be ten years ago and much has changed and moved on in ten years new and exciting things have happened and are happening and on the rare occasion that you look back from your future to the past relationship in question

notice how it really feels now like a long time ago and also notice the new healthy aspects to your life now in the future look back from that far distant place in the future at that past relationship and just review it dispassionately and objectively the way a scientist might just examine a past curiosity and really notice what it feels like when it doesn't matter much to you any more really learn and notice that when it now feels so distant

■ Pause

And life is made up of many different aspects and parts and many different focuses and we can sometimes over-focus– for a while – in one direction at the expense of things we used to do and enjoy and it can feel good to focus again on things to enjoy

■ ■ Pause

Like it's just fitted back into it's natural place as just another part of life's overall pattern down to experience and really beginning to notice things to look forward to from the future

■ Pause

And you can repeat this experience in deep rest and relaxation any time you need to and for now you can just begin the process of starting to drift back to the room feeling very refreshed and revitalised and with a very real sense of growing calm about things that's it really starting to come back and opening those eyes feeling alert and relaxed good!
